Dispute Resolution in Maritime and Offshore Oil & Gas Conflicts

Resolve strategically, not explosively

OVERVIEW

This workshop equips professionals with practical knowledge and tools to manage maritime and offshore oil and gas disputes through ADR. It emphasizes negotiation, mediation, and arbitration as effective methods for resolving complex conflicts while avoiding escalation and litigation. Participants will gain a deeper understanding of how ADR can be tailored to the unique legal, technical, and political dimensions of offshore energy disputes, promoting timely, cost-effective, and durable solutions in high-stakes environments.

Audience

Tailored for legal advisors, ADR practitioners, energy executives, maritime policy officials, and government representatives involved in the governance, operation, or regulation of offshore oil and gas activities. It is particularly valuable for stakeholders engaged in cross-border energy projects, joint ventures, or working in contested maritime regions.

Instructors

Led by experienced mediators, arbitrators, and legal experts specializing in international energy disputes, maritime law, and investor-state arbitration. Instructors bring hands-on experience from international tribunals, energy conflict resolution, and cross-border ADR frameworks, offering a pragmatic and strategic approach to conflict prevention and resolution in the offshore sector.
